LIMA RAIL YARDS SEARCHED

Pulnam-co Grand Jury Expected to Review Case Monday

Two safe cracking suspects are being held in Leipsic and police in Lima are searching for three others wanted in connection with the robbery Wednesday night of the Wank Brothers meat market, Leipsic.

Loot valued at $350 is in the possession of the escaped trio who made their getaway on a B. and O. freight, according to Constable Thompson. Loot consisted of a diamond ring valued at $200 and $150 worth of old coins.

A small safe at the rear of the store was broken open by thieves who gained entrance thru an open transom over a rear door of the market located in the heart of the business district.

A small lock on the outside of the safe was broken and the safe lifted. William Swank discovered the robbery Thursday morning when he opened the store.

LIMA POLICE NOTIFIED

Lima police were notified of the robbery and Wednesday night in coming B. and O. freight train were searched. Three suspects were arrested but they were released after grilling at police headquarters showed they were not implicated.

Two boys arrested Thursday morning in Leipsic charged with the robbery were bound over to common pleas court when brought up Thursday noon before Judge H. V. Summers.

They gave their names as Ralph Favetta, 17, and John E. Webb, 17, and their addresses as Piqua.

The Putnam-co grand jury, which will be in session Monday, will investigate their case, Judge Summers said.

Authorities of Leipsic believe there is another boy who has not been arrested who may know something of the case.

URGE BRICK FOR ONE-MILE ROAD

Residents on Spencerville-rd File Petition

Demand that brick be the only material considered in paving a one-mile section of Spencerville-rd, was made in a petition signed by Spencerville land owners, and presented to the county commissioners Thursday.

The petition is headed by J. Henry Goeke, former congressman, and J. D. Tam, and signed by residents along the proposed section without exception.

The petition will also be presented to the state highway department Friday, the day scheduled for selling the road work.

Transporters point out that they must pay a large share of the cost of building the road, and ask that they be given a highway that will cost the bonds issued to pay for it.

County commissioners when pressed for an opinion Thursday, lined up for either brick or willite. There is a brick pavement at the east end of the highway, and willite from the park to the river. Commissioners say that one or the other of the two materials should be selected.

PRINCE IS BEST FOX TROTTER

QUEBEC — (United Press) The strains of "Yes, we have no bananas" floating up an elevator shaft Wednesday night caused Lord Renfrew to suddenly alter his plan to remain in his apartment and go to bed early.

The prince hurried downstairs and was easily the best fox trotter on the floor.

Over a hundred thousand visitors poured into Quebec last night and today to get a look at England's next king.

COUNTS IS QUOTED AS 'FRESH CASH'

Witness Testifies of Conversation With Accused

TLLS OF QUASHED CASE

Claimed Thanks for Postponement, Max Horn Says

CLEVELAND — (Associated Press) — Fred Counts, while he was federal prohibition agent for the Cleveland district, admitted he was "after the dollar," and claimed thanks for going before the federal grand jury and squashing the case against Max Horn, one of the alleged Auerbach alcohol conspirators, according to testimony in Federal Judge Westenhaver's court today during the trial of the conspiracy cases against Counts, his brother, Attorney A. Counts, Joseph A. Shearer, former federal prohibition director for Ohio, and Samuel A. Hoskins, Columbus lawyer.

Horn, called as a government witness by United States District Attorney A. F. Bernstein, testified the conspiracy case against him had been postponed by Fred Counts three times, before it was allowed to come up before a federal commissioner. At a later meeting in A. F. Counts office he quoted Fred Counts as saying, "Well, Max, I want you to thank me. I took your case before the grand jury and had you discharged."

PRISONER TESTIFIES — The statement, "Well, we're all after the dollar, you know," was attributed to Fred Counts by Abraham Limbert, another government witness who is serving a sentence in Atlanta federal penitentiary for conspiracy against the prohibition laws. Limbert said he had been arrested in 1920, after selling alcohol for the Auerbachs for six weeks.

After he was questioned in the office of Fred Counts, he said, the others left the room and Counts asked "How much will you give me to let you use the phone to call up Louis Auerbach and tell him about this?" Limbert said he replied he would give nothing and that it was up to Counts to notify Auerbach. For several months he did not speak to Counts, he testified, and the next time they met Counts said the arrest was not his fault but that of the Auerbachs, adding, "We're all after the dollar."

Red Cross Quota $1,800 Short Here

Allen-co is $1,800 behind on its quota of $4,500 for Japanese relief, according to Campaign Chairman A. C. CaJacobs. No report has been received from Delphos, Harrod or Elida in the county districts, he said.

Chairman CaJacob said that he did not mean to carry the impression Wednesday that the churches had failed to meet their quota that the churches had been assigned $1,000 which is to be raised by collections next Sunday and that only $100 had been turned in thus far.

"Unless the churches come thru with their quota next Sunday and other organizations also meet their quotas, we will have to start another campaign next Monday morning if Allen-co is to go over the top in this relief fund drive," he said. "We are falling down on the job and Allen-co cannot afford to do that."

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Subscriptions to the Red Cross Japanese relief fund today reached a total of $6,185,367, more than half of which already has been expended or allotted for expenditure in supplying needed aid to the stricken area.

In all thirteen ships already sailed or are preparing to sail carrying Red Cross relief supplies.

The total expenditures and commitments made by the Red Cross to date amount to $3,553,806.

PUTNAM-CO JURY IN RECESS

Will Continue Triple Murder Case Next Monday

Putnam-co grand jury, which on Wednesday and Thursday investigated the killing of three members of the Tenwalde family, recessed Thursday noon, without bringing in their report.

They will resume deliberations Monday at 9 a. m. The grand jury listened to the testimony of William Tenwalde, husband and father of the murdered women; Cornelius Brockrath, a brother of Mrs. William Tenwalde, who was slain; Joseph Hovest neighboring farmer to Tenwalde and Raymond and Irene Tenwalde, eye witnesses to the shooting of their mother, sister Olivia, aged 19 years and Laurence Tenwalde, 23, a cousin and their farm hand.

Others who testify were Walter Shank, a brother of Charles Shank, accused murderer, who has been roaming at large since the crime was committed; Earl Shank, a cousin, at whose home the alleged slayer stopped after committing the deed and while evading the posse; Harry Teegarden, of Columbus Grove, at whose home Shank was employed the past summer and Dr. A. F. Sheidley, coroner.

"JAKE" SALES ON DECREASE

Police Drive Obtaining Results Investigation Shows

Sale of "jakey ginger" in grocery stores and other places besides drug stores has practically stopped since the lid was clamped down here.

Police Chief Lanker made this statement Thursday at the expiration of a two-week drive against sale of the high alcoholic beverage.

Wholesalers are experiencing difficulty in disposing of their stock, according to Lanker who announced that one wholesaler, notified him Thursday that he has six gross of the fluid on hand.

Records show that the majority of drunks, brought into criminal court are "moonshine" victims instead of "jake hounds" as was the case before police notified soft drink cafes, groceries and other business places, excepting drug stores, to discontinue sales.

AUTO SMASHED

Automobile driven by Mrs. Emil Arthur of near Criderstown, was slightly damaged Thursday morning in an accident with a truck at Main-st and Vine-st. The truck is said to be the property of Lima Locomotive works. No one was injured.

BRICKS ARE THROWN AT MOTORMAN

Harry Crawford Injured as Missile Strikes His Head

ASSAULTED BY MEN IN TRUCK

Strikers Oppose Use of Force, Guy Campbell Announces

Appeal for police protection against street car strike violence was made Thursday by Lima City Street Railway Co. as the aftermath of the injury of one car operative Wednesday night when a W. Market-st car was stoned.

Harry Crawford, conductor, sustained severe head cuts and bruises from flying glass and a stone hurled by occupants of a Ford truck who escaped after the demonstration.

Investigation by the traction company divulged information that at 9 p. m. Wednesday Crawford was operating the car on W. Market-st. At the turn on Cole-st a shower of bricks greeted him.

Windows were shattered and one brick entered the car, striking Crawford on the head and inflicting severe injuries. Crawford claimed he was stunned momentarily but retained control of the car which at the time was not occupied by any passengers.

Other bricks hurled by the occupants of the truck fell to the pavement where they are said to have remained until Thursday morning.

Injury to Crawford was the first actual serious violence in the five week old strike of 36 car operatives who are standing unchanged in their demands for a suitable working agreement. Other demonstrations have been reported but no injuries resulted.

The first disorder was on the public square several mornings after the traction company renewed early morning service. One of the operatives was the object of an egg thrown by a small boy.

EGGS ARE THROWN — Last week a shower of eggs greeted a N. Main-st car and operatives were called "scabs" by a number of strike sympathizers, police reported after they dispersed the gang.

Last Saturday night on Bellefontaine-av, near the fair grounds a brick was hurled thru a car window supposedly at the conductor who was not injured.

Police investigated the brick throwing Wednesday night. Officer Roney searched the city for three men in a truck who are said to have thrown the bricks. After an hour patrol of streets he gave up the hunt, his report stated.

Striking carmen not only deny participation in the demonstration but state they have exerted their influence on friends to avoid all such incidents which tend to throw discredit on them.

Promise that they would assist the police in bringing offenders to justice was made at strike headquarters when report of the injury of the car operative was made there.

"We have conducted our strike in an orderly manner and we not only oppose such action as was reported but will do all we can to allow the strike to run its course peacefully," President Guy Campbell of the street car union said.

EXPLANATION BY MAYOR DEMANDED BY DONAHEY

COLUMBUS — Mayor William R. Lodge of Silver Lake, near Akron, was ordered today by Governor Donahay to appear before him tomorrow and explain his enforcement of the prohibition laws, especially relating to this issuance of affidavits and search warrants.

Charges have been made by citizens of Silver Lake that Mayor Lodge has been issuing search warrants in blank, permitting dry law enforcement agents to fill in the necessary information themselves. This has led to discrimination against certain persons, it is said.

CUNNINGHAM RESIGNS AS CASHIER OF THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Will Become Treasurer of the Lima Trust Co.

LIFE TIME IN BANK WORK

City's Greatest Financial Institution Expands

Another move in the financial district came as a complete surprise, Thursday, when Frank C. Cunningham tendered his resignation as cashier of The First National Bank.

According to members of the executive committee of that old institution, the action was entirely unexpected, Cunningham having served a life time in various capacities of The First National.

Cunningham resigned to make a step upward on the financial ladder, going to the Lima Trust Co., to become its treasurer. Brice Applas now holds the post of secretary-treasurer of "Lima's Biggest Bank" and the work has become so heavy, the duties are to be divided. Applas will remain as secretary, and Cunningham take up his duties of treasurer.

While it has been known to some of his closest friends that Cunningham was considering a change, the offer being so flattering as to deny refusal, yet in banking circles yesterday it caused as great a sensation as the recent exclusive announcement in The News of the impending merger of The First National and the American Bank & Trust.

Cunningham has been more an institution than a mere cashier. He started as a messenger when a boy, was rapidly advanced under Cashier C. D. Crites, and when that old time banker resigned in 1914 Cunningham was given his desk and his responsibilities. Recent changes in personnel of The First National when O. B. Seitzinger retired as president and George E. Bayly became managing-director, it is believed, played a part in Cunningham considering a change.

From the First, strongest of the National Banks in the Northwestern Ohio territory, Cunningham goes over to the Trust, Lima's biggest banking house. With its revised capital and surplus account, Lima Trust Co., now has capital stock of $400,000 surplus of $200,000 and undivided profits as shown on last statement of $81,098, now probably $100,000, making total capital assets of $700,000, while the same statement shows total resources of $4,557,000 in round figures, which will reach, at the present rate, total resources of five millions before the close of the year.

The Lima Trust Co. has made many movements in late years strengthening and expanding its dominant position. It now occupies the entire building which it purchased several years ago when it moved from the Masonic Building to the public square. Its directors embrace dominant figures in the manufacturing and mercantile world and include: Emmett R. Curtin, president; R. O. Bigley, C. M. Tolan and H. P. Dean, vice-presidents; B. B. Applas, secretary and now Frank C. Cunningham, treasurer; D. J. Cable, G. E. Blum, M. P. Colt, F. T. Cuthbert, J. E. Galvin, J. O. Hoyer, L. A. Larsen, E. W. Mosler, J. G. Neubauer, W. L. Parmenter, Jacob Piper, R. J. Plate and H. O. Wemmer.

The resignation of Cunningham was tendered to take effect October first, or with option that he will remain, if requested until the first of the year.

COMMERCE BOARD PLANS DRIVE

National and American League Teams to Get Members

Directors and executive committees of the Board of Commerce at their luncheon Thursday noon voted to divide the city into the National and American Leagues for the purpose of putting over the board's drive for 1,000 members, which starts Wednesday night, Oct. 3.

Emmett J. Jackson, former city judge, was named to the position of president of the National league, now occupied by John F. Heydler, of New York, while Glenn C. Webb has been named as president of the American league, a position now held by Ban B. Johnson, of Chicago. George Eckert has been assigned the difficult role now held by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, of Chicago, supreme dictator of baseball.

President Jackson and President Webb will each name captains for eight teams, as each league is to have the same number of teams as the baseball leagues of those names and the teams will take the same names as baseball teams take in the big leagues. Methods of selecting team names had not been worked out at 1 p. m. Thursday, so it is not known, for instance, what team will be the Giants and what the tail-end Braves.

It is planned to get the drive going Wednesday night with a luncheon and to try and finish by Friday night, when a dinner will be held, a member of the executive committee said shortly before the luncheon was over. Just what duties will fall on "Kenesaw Mountain Landis" Eckert had not been fully determined. Ban B. Johnson Webb announced that there would be no Black Sox scandal in his league while he was running it. And so the big drive for members is to get going.

VILLAGE IS WIPED OUT BY STORM

Lower California Inhabitants Believed to Have Escaped

MEXICALI, Lower Calif. — (United Press) — Terrific storms and a small tidal wave that drove in from the Pacific and caused great damage in Lower California, over last week end and may have completely wiped out the entire fishing village of Jose Cabo, according to wireless advices today.

The town's 500 inhabitants are believed to have escaped.

Lower California government officials were without word of the reported disaster early.

An unofficial report picked up by the wireless station here, said that a severe storm swept the entire Lower California coast Saturday and that the village was seriously damaged. Relief, it was said, is being rushed from Mazatlan.

Superstitious fear of the coming eclipse of the sun was declared responsible for the fact that no lives were lost. The natives rushed to near-distant school poultryman, by hills as soon as the mountainous seas arose, believing the fearsome manifestation of nature was connected with the solar phenomenon.

GEORGE POOR REPLACED BY SIDNEY MAN

Cincinnati May be Removed from Board Membership

COURT TO DECIDE ACTION

Donahay Takes Step Because of Chairman Owning Stock

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) — Governor Donahay today directed Attorney General Crabbe to institute court action to oust George T. Poor of Cincinnati, as a member of the state public utilities commission because of Poor's alleged ownership of stock in the Cities Service Company, which the governor asserts in his opinion, disqualifies Poor to be a member of the commission.

At the same time the governor replaced Poor as chairman of the commission by designating Charles C. Marshall of Sidney, as commissioner. Marshall is the Democratic member of the commission.

The governor's action in directing the attorney general to bring out proceedings against Commissioner Poor is in line with the attorney general's opinion rendered to the governor several days ago in which Crabbe held that Poor's ownership of Cities Service stock did not constitute grounds for his removal, but that it was a matter for the courts to decide whether such ownership of stock influenced Poor's decisions as utilities commissioner sufficiently to disqualify him.

GOVERNOR'S STATEMENT — A statement issued by Governor Donahay, said:

"In my opinion Mr. George T. Poor's sworn ownership of stock in the Cities Service Co. utterly disqualifies him for membership on the utilities commission of Ohio. Under the opinion of the attorney general, however, I have not the authority to remove him for this cause.

"The governor's statement then announced that by virtue of law he had replaced Poor as chairman of the commission by Mr. Marshall.

In his letter to the attorney general directing that ouster proceedings be instituted at once against Poor, Governor Donahay said the question involved "is one of vital interest to the people of Ohio and I am sure the broad-minded, progressive men in the utility industry itself would like to see the body whose duty it is to regulate their business, above even the shadow of suspicion."

Asserting that he does not pretend to be "versed in the fine points of law, closely drawn legal distinctions or technicalities" the governor says that "plain old-fashioned horse sense convinces me that since larger earnings thru higher rates of these utilities means larger earnings for Cities Service Co. the said George T. Poor thru his admitted ownership of Cities Service stock did acquire a 'pecuniary interest' in certain Ohio public utilities under his jurisdiction as commissioner."

OWNERSHIP QUESTIONED — Attorney General Crabbe's opinion stated that Poor's ownership of cities service stock was questioned in the bankruptcy proceedings of the brokerage firm of Buze and Chatfield, Cincinnati, and that Cities Service control of certain utilities coming under the jurisdiction of the utilities commission was not definitely asserted.

Answering these assertions, the governor says Poor has admitted the ownership of the Cities Service stock and that the Cities Service Company does control thru stock ownership, the Ohio Public Service Company, the Toledo Edison Company and the Central Ohio Gas Co. He asserts that the facts relative to this stock control are readily available in any standard financial manual and the sworn reports of the companies themselves.

Commissioner Poor declined to comment on the action of the governor.

ARMY REVOLTS AGAINST SPANISH RULERS

STATE OF SIEGE PROCLAIMED

Civil Powers Taken Over by Military Authorities

FOREIGN MINISTER SEIZED

Statement on Conditions Issued by Cabinet

MADRID — (Associated Press) — Army officers at Barcelona have revolted and martial law has been declared.

The rank and file of the army have joined in the revolt but the navy personnel is quiet.

After a cabinet meeting today the following statement was issued: "The captain general of Barcelona last night proclaimed on his own responsibility a state of siege in that district, seized the communications and invited other districts to support his action."

"In order to explain this step he published a manifesto to the country declaring that the army called upon the sovereign to save Spain and asking for the dismissal of the present ministers."

"In certain districts it appears the military forces are disposed to concur in this attitude of rebellion. The cabinet is in permanent session and will maintain its position which it will abandon only under force should the promoters of this section decide to follow up their policy with all its consequences."

"The king will arrive in Madrid today."

BARCELONA — (Associated Press) — A state of siege was proclaimed here at 11:15 o'clock this morning and the Catalan military authorities took possession of power in the city.

It is stated here that several garrisons, notably those in Madrid, Saragossa and Seville, have adhered to the military movement which now must be recognized as a regular coup d'état.

The normal life of Barcelona is proceeding. The state of siege has existed in reality since three o'clock this morning and a censorship has been established under the military authorities.

Documents have been made public affirming that legal proceedings have already been opened against the foreign minister and Premier Alcala.

It is reported that Santiago, Alba, the minister of foreign affairs is under arrest at San Sebastian.

EXCHANGE TAKEN

The main telephone exchange here was occupied early today by a band of men understood to be headed by Captain General Primo Rivera. It is believed that the movement will signalize an outbreak in other of the chief towns of Spain. Grave rumors were circulating in Madrid last night and the government held a hastily called meeting.

The imminence of important events was widely distributed throughout the night.

A document addressed to all Spaniards and signed by Captain General Rivera was published at 2 o'clock this morning. It criticizes the present government and stigmatizes the professional politicians for seizing the power and annihilating the will of the king.

MILITARY PLANS

Owing to this situation, the document continues, the military authorities will take the direction and responsibilities of the power to govern, either directly or thru civilians.

At the moment of declaring a state of siege, asserts the document, the military authority will deprive the present civil officials of their powers and assume their functions. It will seize all means of communications and forbid circulation except for business or family reasons.

The authorities of the new regime, continues the proclamation, will occupy the headquarters of the Communist and Revolutionary associations, the prisons, the banks, the electric power stations and the points at which water supply is controlled. All suspects will be arrested.

It also is declared the leaders of the movement will seek to maintain the normal life of the country. The proclamation ends with an appeal to the patriotism of the population, entreating the military forces to give their lives to the country if necessary.

POLICE AND FIRE PENSION FUNDS TO BE REPLENISHED

Lima fire and police pension funds requested by the city commission for 1924 will be fully allowed by the county budget commission and the city will also be allowed enough extra money for these two funds to pay back the money the city borrowed out of the 1923 income to meet the 1923 deficit in the two funds.

Definite promise to this effect has been given the city, according to City Manager Bingham who said that the promise was made to Attorney Mel Light, counsel for the firemen in their fight.

City Clerk Frank Hume said that the deficit in the two funds this year is $2,600 for which amount the commissioners last Monday night mortgaged that much of the 1924 income. The amounts requested of the budget commission for 1924 for these two funds were $4,900 for the police pension fund and $2,700 for the firemen's relief fund.

WHERE DO WHALES MAKE HAUNTS?

British Crew to Tag Sea Monsters for Recognition

LONDON — (United Press) — Where do whales go? Ever since the Dutch established blubber headquarters at Smeerenburg, in Spitzbergen, and began the chase with more than three hundred vessels, driving the whales out of southern into northern waters, and finally, aided by the flourishing ability of British harpoon-throwers, into regions unknown, this has been a moot question.

In recent years, with the gradual disappearance of the monsters from their haunts of the last century or so, experiments have been carried out in an effort to throw some light on the question.

Now the colonial office of the British government, planning to work thru a crew of daring South Sea fishermen, is preparing to make another attempt. "The Discovery," the wooden schooner on which Captain Scott made his successful journey to the South Polar regions prior to his last expedition to the Terra Nova, lies at Portsmouth. She is being overhauled for the job. Acquired by the Falkland Islands government, she is to conduct the research in the whaling districts around South Georgia.

The "Discovery" is to carry a motor launch in which harpooners will get as close as possible to whales that are observed. With harpoons they will scratch marks on the whales' bodies. The harpoons will be distinguishable by a peculiar design, and probably numbered, so that should they be left in the whale and found later they will be recognized. Whalers everywhere will be acquired with the plan and efforts will be made to trace the whales marked.

FRANK B. COTNER TESTIFIES

Former Lafayette Banker Faces Accusers in Court

Frank B. Cotner, former Lafayette banker and Sunday school superintendent, faced his accusers in the felony case now on trial in Justice of Peace E. M. Botkin's court Thursday.

The aged banker, facing charges brought by customers, barred the business transactions which resulted in his being forced to sell his half of the Lafayette bank to N. W. Cunningham, Bluffton financier.

Cotner told of heavy loans made in wartime to farmers who, land mad, saw visions of $500 an acre farms, $3 wheat, $2 corn, and $20 pork.

Then came the aftermath, when land values slumped and grain and livestock slid down to 1913 prices. Cotner and the bank were heavy losers on loans and have been forced to resort to litigation, records disclose, to collect.

During this time and for years, Cotner said, he had been in the habit of taking care of business obligations for his customers.

When the crash came, some of them lost their farms, the witness declared, and sought means of revenge. Cotner had not concluded his testimony Thursday.

Howard L. Kay, expert accountant, who examined affairs of the bank two years ago, identified several of the exhibits, comprising checks said to have been signed by Cotner.

Kay declared hand writing on a check for $24.14, drawn in favor of the Northern National bank, in 1916, and signed with the name Clyde Snyder, was written by Snyder.

The check forms the basis for one of the three charges against Cotner.

Snyder, formerly a well-to-do farmer, who is said to have lost his farm thru the bank, took the stand shortly before noon. He said that he was now working as a laborer. Cotner was never authorized by him to sign either notes or checks to meet bills.

SHIP LIVE STOCK INTO COUNTY

Seven Carloads Scheduled to Arrive This Week

WILL SHIP DISEASED CATTLE

Farmers Taking Great Interest in Poultry Work

Movements of live stock are starting in Allen-co. C. W. Mertz, president of the Allen-co Live Stock Co., stated Thursday. Seven carloads will be shipped this week which is the largest amount shipped for several weeks.

Three loads were sent from Beaverdam Tuesday, one load from Spencer-ville on Wednesday, and one load from Lafayette on Thursday. Saturday three loads will be shipped, one each from Beaverdam, Kemp and Carro. Hogs, sheep and cattle were shipped, all carloads going to the Cleveland market.

Twelve cows having bovine tuberculosis will be shipped out of the county Saturday. This is the first time that any reactors have been shipped and is the result of three weeks of testing for the disease in Bath-tub.

All reactors discovered by the inspectors will be sent from the county to the Cleveland market, where they are slaughtered under government supervision and a post-mortem held.

New system of organizing farmers interested in poultry will be followed this year, H. J. Ridge, county agent, stated Thursday. Farmers who wish to enter the poultry record work must sign an agreement before they can secure the record books.

Farmers of Allen-co. are taking great interest in poultry work, Ridge said, and between 50 and 75 are expected to enter the record work this year. Agreements can be secured at the farm bureau office.

Committees in charge of the Jackson-pole achievement day will meet at the town hall, Lafayette, Thursday night. Plans for the celebration to be held on September 21 will be completed. Exhibits of all activities of the township will be held on achievement day.

D. S. Myer, district supervisor of north-western Ohio, was in Lima Thursday planning next year's county farm bureau program with H. J. Ridge, farm agent.

Next fifth Ohio Farm Bureau District meeting will be held in Lima on December 11. Dairy marketing and township organization will be the two chief topics discussed.

RESCUE ARMY TO SUE CITY

Solicitor Declares License Law is Not Legal

Refusal of Mayor Cunningham and city officials to give him a license to solicit funds for the Rescue Army Workers of the World, will result in a suit in court to test the legality of the law, Col. John Weaver of York, Pa., stated Thursday morning after he had been refused the license.

Colonel Weaver was arrested Wednesday evening for soliciting without a license but was released by Judge Nell Poling Thursday morning and told to get a license at city hall. He appeared and Mayor Cunningham ham took the matter up.

With Colonel Weaver was Noah A. Westenhaven of this city, one of the charter members of the organization, which is organized under the laws of Ohio. He says he is commander-in-chief of the organization.

In refusing the license Mayor Cunningham told the men that he was in sympathy with all religious work but that he was opposed to granting licenses to everybody to come into Lima and collect funds, ostensibly for religious work, with out the city having some idea of use of the money thus given by the Lima people. The men showed the charter granted to Noah Westenhaven, Frank Hopkins, Anna E. Hopkins, Christopher Strader and Roy Lowrie, the latter two of whom are dead, according to Westenhaven. The charter was granted November 12, 1918, it shows.

Later in the conference in Bingham's office Mayor Cunningham presented the matter to Bingham, the city solicitor and Commissioner Jones and they all sustained his action.

Colonel Weaver says he will solicit and then if again arrested will contest the matter in court. He charges discrimination in refusing a license to his organization.

INJURED MAN IMPROVING William S. Sowers, 123 W. Kibby-st., is reported considerably improved at St. Rita's hospital. He fell a distance of 50 feet from a crane at the Lima Locomotive Works Wednesday and suffered two broken arms and a fractured rib.

He was suffering from severe shock Wednesday but recovered somewhat Thursday.

BUREAU HEAD

Walter G. Campbell has been selected to be director of regulatory work, Department of Agriculture. He is a native of Kentucky and has served as acting chief Bureau of Chemistry.

YOUTH STILL AT LIBERTY

Search Fails to Reveal Whereabouts of James Long

James Long the boy of many aliases, was still at large Thursday, efforts to recapture him made by the sheriff's office and police Wednesday having failed.

Search for the missing youth was abandoned by Sheriff Crosson, after he had scoured the country-side for the fugitive.

Crosson expressed the opinion that the lad was in Lima some place hiding. Sooner or later, he figures, Long will turn up.

Because of his wounded condition, some liberty had been accorded the lad in jail, Sheriff Crosson said.

The privilege of being outside his cell in daytime, was given the boy under orders of Dr. Frank Thomas, jail physician, who decreed that he should have exercise.

Long's escape was apparently engineered with aid of a short length of gas pipe, pulled from a light fixture. However, Sheriff Crosson holds tools of some sort may have been passed the boy by a relative who visited him Tuesday.

FLORIDA RIVERS ARE PUZZLE

Curious Freaks of Nature Interest Travelers

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — (Associated Press) — The traveler in West Florida, unfamiliar with the scenery of that section, should prepare himself for some curious freaks of nature. Otherwise he may waste unnecessary time groping for an explanation of the strange behavior of three of the state's rivers.

The old sea and shell game expression, "Now you see it and now you don't," applies to parts of all of them.

A description of these streams has been written by W. A. McRae, commissioner of agriculture, who quotes a young man who has spent his life on the banks of the waterways. The substance of it follows:

The Wacissa rises in "Beautiful Springs," near Thomas City, on the Tallahassee-Southeastern Railroad, not far from the state capital, and flows due south to within three miles of the Aucilla river, where it disappears underground and then reappears in the Aucilla. Logmen have cut a small canal from the point of disappearance to the Aucilla.

The Aucilla rises in Georgia and flows in a southwesterly direction, forming the eastern boundary of Jefferson-co, Florida. About three miles south of where the Tallahassee-Southeastern forms a junction with this river, the Aucilla sinks and runs underground in a winding way for possibly 12 miles, rising about three miles north of where the Wacissa comes into it from below the earth.

The course of the river is traced by sink-holes, and it can be seen plainly. As proof of this, an object dropped into the stream where it first sinks is seen to rise and pass thru the various sinks to the point 12 miles below where it finally comes to the surface.

The St. Marks, the third of the "sunk rivers" is a few miles to the west of the Wacissa and Aucilla. It also sinks and rises again a short distance away, making Florida's "Natural Bridge." At this point one of the state's hardest battles was fought in the Civil War, mostly by old men and cadets from the West Florida Seminary at Tallahassee, on the Confederate side. A monument was erected there in 1922 by funds appropriated by the legislature, and was dedicated Memorial Day, 1922, to the memory of the Confederate soldiers who lost their lives in the fight.

GEN. PERSHING IS 63 TODAY

Begins Last Year of His Active Military Service

RETIREES NEXT. SEPTEMBER

Head of Army Reviews Work on Birthday

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — John J. Pershing celebrated today his sixty-third birthday. He began his last year of active service in the army to which his life has been devoted at his desk in the war department, performing the triple duties of acting secretary of war, general of the armies and chief of staff.

A year from today, which also is the anniversary of the opening of the battle of St. Mihiel, the man who commanded the American army then in its first great drive against the German lines in France, will pass automatically to the retired list.

Before the general's desk stands a great map of the United States covered over with markings showing the distribution and organization of the new army of the United States that has been created out of the lessons learned thru the struggle in France. On it stand the markers that indicate the division and brigade and even lesser headquarters of the regular army, the national guard and the organized reserves. And it was to these that General Pershing's eyes turned in casting up the account of the years that are behind him. It is to these he will look a year from today, in all probability his last of active service under the flag, before he steps aside that other men may carry forward the work.

BEST TRAINING "Is the army plan worked out in the national defense act of 1920 a success?" General Pershing said in response to a question. "Yes, I can say of my own knowledge that it is. This year our summer training camps have been the best we have had. I know that for I have visited nearly all of them. It has been proved a workable plan. It needs now but the continued support of congress and the understanding and the support of the people to enter into the permanent national life of America and assure us always of a reasonable degree of readiness to protect ourselves."

It is an open secret in the army that General Pershing remained in active service after the war and accepted the post of chief of staff because he saw ahead a service to the flag greater in its constructive possibilities, perhaps, than even his wartime service. He would not talk much of that personal side of the matter today but turned back to the great map to point out again what had been done, what there was still to do.

"It is the same thing," General Pershing said, "that my predecessor as general of the armies, George Washington, visioned and urged on congress more than a hundred years ago. It is the machinery by which a volunteer army can be organized in peace times. There is no danger of militarism in it. These reserve officers and their associates are centers of patriotic effort and will help America in future in the things of peace as surely as they would help in war."

LONG LEAVES HOSPITAL

Charles Long, of Bellefontaine, who suffered a crushed skull during a fight at the Auglaize-co fair grounds on August 23, left St. Rita's hospital Thursday completely recovered.

Long was in a serious condition for several days, being in a state of semi-consciousness for over a week, before he began to show signs of recovery. The wound in his head, said to have been caused by a hammer, is completely healed.

ASK MANUFACTURERS TO DISPLAY LIMA PRODUCTS

Lima manufacturers are invited to exhibit their products at the International Fair to be held in Havana, Cuba, Feb. 9 to 24, 1924, according to a letter received Thursday by the traffic bureau of the Board of Commerce.

According to the letter the fair management is now trying to prevail upon the Cuban government to admit products, destined only for the exhibition at the fair, into Cuban ports free of duty.

Manager J. S. Link, of the bureau, said that details as to space and cost can be had from him by any Lima manufacturer who desires to enter his products at the fair.

EUROPE AWAITING JUGO-SLAV NOTE

Italy's Opinion on Reply Means Peace or War

ATHENS — The Jugo-Slav government has ordered closing of the Serbo-Bulgar front, following extensive invasions of Jugo-Slav territory by large bands of armed Bulgarians, a telegram from Belgrade said today.

GENEVA — (United Press) — The Italian government today notified Switzerland it cannot accept arbitration of the Fiume dispute between Italy and Jugo-Slavia by the Swiss president, "owing to difficulties which might arise later between Italy and Switzerland."

LONDON — (United Press) — Possibility of an Italo-Jugo Slav war within 72 hours, was agitating the chancelleries of Europe today while they anxiously waited for the terms Belgrade's reply to the ultimatum of Premier Mussolini of Italy, demanding acceptance of the Italian thesis for settlement of the Fiume controversy by Saturday.

It was understood the Jugo-Slav reply already has reached Rome and is being studied by the Italian foreign office. The decision of war or peace will depend on the Italian view of the communication.

Great Britain for the moment is not directly concerned in the dispute and there is little likelihood she will be personally involved, although statesmen realize the danger of a real European conflagration. France is in the most delicate position of the outside powers, since she has close ties with both the little entente and Italy, and is sure to create bitter resentment which ever sides she supports. It equally is impossible for Premier Poincare to remain neutral.

The chief danger, as viewed by statesmen here, lies in the unrestrained exercise of Premier Mussolini's enthusiasm for entrance into a campaign of Italian prestige and expansion. This is the program France wants to curb. Some British circles charge Mussolini with imitation of Napoleon's policy of bolstering up his position at home by external wars. There can be no doubt but that Italian patriotism has been stirred to the fever point under Mussolini's regime, reacting with marked speed from the depression which followed the world war in which Italy felt she was robbed of the fruits of her victory.

South Lima Baptist Church Dedicates Friday to Work

Reading of the Bible "in one day" is an accomplishment planned by members and friends of the South Lima Baptist church as a feature of the evangelistic campaign now being conducted by Rev. H. F. Dudley, pastor, and Earl T. Farro, well known evangelist of Wilona, La., Ind. The campaign started 10 days ago and will continue for one more week.

Rev. Dudley said members of the church have arranged to read the entire books in the Old Testament during Friday. The various chapters have been assigned and the reading will be done in the homes.

Reading of the New Testament, however, will be done in the church beginning at 3 a. m. Friday and continuing until the reading has been concluded. The reading will be aloud and will be by Rev. Dudley, Evangelist Farro and laymen of the church.

Rev. Dudley said he expected the reading of the New Testament will be concluded at 6 p. m. and will be followed immediately by regular services. Thermometers registering the progress of the reading of the New Testament will be erected in front of the Ottawa Paint Co. in the public square and at the church. As reading progresses the thermometer register will be moved.

"Purpose of reading the entire Bible" declared Rev. Dudley, "is to stimulate interest in Bible reading, not only in the homes but in the church."

9 U. S. WARSHIPS HIT ROCKS

Two Saved, However, in Disaster off California Coast

REACH PORT AT SAN DIEGO

Story of Narrow Escape is Told by Crews

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — (United Press)—Nine destroyers, instead of seven, as first reported, ran on the rocks at Point Arguello Saturday night, it was learned today.

The Sommers and the Farragut, which were badly damaged, pumps working to keep water out of their holds and with tales of their thrilling escape from the fate that overtook their sister ships of the destroyer flotilla.

The two destroyers that escaped, damaged from the peril of the rocks, were following in single file the seven that piled up.

Ploughing thru the seas at the rate of 20 knots an hour on the fatal night, the lookouts on the Farragut perceived something had gone wrong with the vessels ahead.

"Man overboard," was his instinctive cry and acting on standing instructions to destroyer fleets in that formation, the Sommers and Farragut veered off to the right and left in order not to hit the man they believed to be in the water. It was this action that saved the vessels and possibly the lives of the crew.

However, the pilots were not quick enough to avoid the danger ahead of them and the Farragut collided with the Fuller, one of the vessels now left to lie on the rocks, while the Sommers hit another vessel which the crew believed to be the Young. The Young later capsized and is believed to contain within its hold the 19 seamen still missing.

DRAGGED TO SAFETY

After the Farragut struck the Fuller it ploughed on thru the maelstrom of ships and struck the rocks. Quick action on the part of the commander caused it to reverse its engines and the boat managed to draw itself to safety, although a large hole was torn in its sides, near the stern. The Sommers grounded after striking the other vessel and then made its way to safety. Rips in several stern plates were suffered by the Sommers and all pumps were working when she reached port. The crews and officers escaped injury. So serious was the damage suffered by both vessels that it took them from Saturday night until yesterday afternoon to reach port.

Reports from Point Arguello, where salvaging operations and search for the dead continues said today that a fourth body, that of Fireman C. F. Rodgers, of the Delphi, had been recovered.

FARMERS SHOULD HARVEST SUMAC

Undesirable Weed Used in Making Dyes

Allen-co farmers are overlooking a source of considerable income by not harvesting the extensive crop of sumac in the county, according to experts.

Sumac grows in practically all parts of the county, H. J. Ridge stated. It is considered an undesirable weed by the majority of farmers who do not realize that sumac leaves are very valuable in the dye industries and bring high prices.

Sumac leaves are rich in tannin, a product used in the dye industry. The majority of the sumac now used in this country is imported, several million dollars worth of leaves being imported annually.

Tens of thousands of tons of this valuable plantage go to waste annually, experts declare, as farmers do not realize its economic value. Dye industry officials scour Europe for the plant and pay fancy prices for it while Allen-co farmers let it go to waste, officials declare.

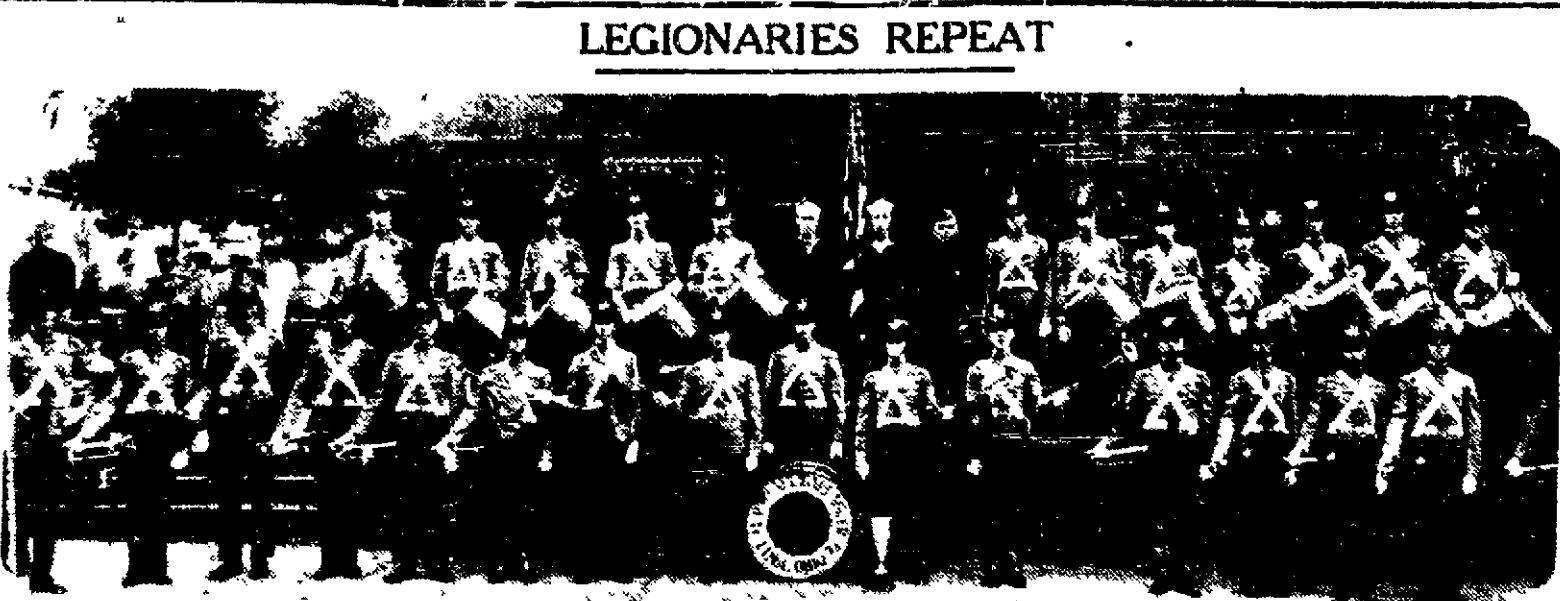

Dwarf or black sumac is the variety most desired by extract makers, the leaves and stems alone being of value. Stalks and berries are worthless.

The general practice followed in gathering is to break or cut the stalk just below the lowest stems. It should not be allowed to wilt in the sun more than a few hours. It should be hauled to a barn and spread on a clean floor in a layer one to three feet deep. The leaves should be turned once or twice a week to aid in the drying.

Sumac is now ready to pick, according to department of agriculture experts. The department will advise farmers of methods and markets for the plant.

Farmers of the county are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to increase their earnings and at the same time get rid of an undesirable weed.

LIMA AND TOKIO BONDS HOLD UP

Bonds Sell Good Despite Financial Condition

Following sale by the city of $111,060 worth of city notes and bonds for street improvements, City Auditor Churchill called attention to two striking facts, namely that despite the terrible disaster in Tokio and the bad financial situation in Lima municipal affairs, the bonds of both cities are holding their own in the market. He said that the Lima bonds all sold for par or above.

Auditor Churchill quoted a decision of the Ohio supreme court in interpreting Sec. 3913 of the state code, the decision outlining the obligations of municipalities to meet their bonds when they mature. This decision said, "Mere failure to comply with all statutory provisions having reference to an issue of city bonds will not relieve the city from obligation to repay money borrowed on the faith of such bonds."

In this connection and as particularly applying to Tokio in its present trouble, Auditor Churchill cited from Bond Buyer, an official publication for bonding houses, the following:

With the entire civilized world stunned by the news of the earthquake disaster in Japan, the externally-owned bonds of that country have suffered only a very slight decline in the New York and London markets and even the municipal obligations of Tokio, described on Monday as a "sea of flames," declined less than we have many times watched our own New York City obligations fluctuate in a period of a few months.

Granting that there is a great deal of Japanese money in this country available to support the credit of that country, the strength shown by these issues in the face of the news of the past week illustrates with unusual conviction the value of the moral obligation behind the governmental type of bond.

MAIL TO EUROPE IN DAY SEEN

Forecast is Result of Success of Dirigible ZR-1

WASHINGTON — (United Press) Mail communication with Europe in one day was forecast today by Rear Admiral W. A. Moffatt, chief of the bureau of naval aeronautics, as one result of the navy dirigible ZR-1's successful flight to New York from Lakehurst, N. J.

In an exclusive interview with the United Press, Moffatt predicted that success of the ZR-1 would prove one of the greatest forward strides of the country in the field of aviation.

Moffatt, the man behind the dirigible program of the United States navy, which has now gone "over the top," believes that the most beneficial results of the ZR-1 success will be in the eventual and universal use of rigid airships for commercial purposes.

The success of the ZR-1, Moffatt explained, lay in the fact that it had shown, in its first test flight at Lakehurst, N. J., and later in its nine hour flight over New York and Philadelphia, that it not only was entirely "airworthy," but that it could be navigated easily and swiftly under varying atmospheric conditions.

In other words, he said, it has been clearly demonstrated that dirigibles of that size can be successfully constructed and operated.

Next spring it may be sent in a flight over the North Pole—an achievement the navy has long had in mind.

"The ZR-1 which is not the greatest rigid airship that we will have," said Moffatt, "can carry a load of freight of about 20 tons. It might be employed in carrying 20 tons of mail across the Atlantic and back in two days."

LIABILITY COMPANY IS SUED BY SAM WINEFELD FOR HEALTH INSURANCE

Judgment in the sum of $1,300 alleged to be due in a health insurance policy is asked in a suit filed today by Samuel Winefeld against the American Liability Co. with home offices at Cincinnati.

Winefeld charges in his petition that he was insured by the defendant company on January 19, 1922 for a period of one year against sickness or accident for a consideration of $36. He says the agent of the company represented to him that the sum of $25 a week would be paid in case of disability on account of illness or accident during the time the policy was in effect.

He further says that he became disabled by illness on April 17, 1922, which continued for one year. He says the defendant company was duly notified but has refused to recognize his claim for $1,300.

Winefeld alleges that the representations of the local agent of the company and the policy which was delivered to him do not conform and that the policy is now held by the defendant, who has refused to return it but has furnished a copy.

He asks the court to reform the policy to conform to the representations made by the company's agent and to grant judgment for $1,300 with interest from April 17, 1922.

TOLEDO COMPANY BUYS BONDS

Prudden & Co. Purchases Street Improvement Notes

Prudden & Co., Toledo bond buyers, Wednesday bought the $31,368 worth of city coupon notes or street improvements which the city was unable to sell September 6 and on which it received but one bid Tuesday when the $111,060 bonds were sold.

Par and accrued interest was the price at which the Toledo buyers took the notes, the bid of the company being presented to the city by A. P. Runnels, representative. The city had already arranged for The City National and The First National banks to take over the $51,368 issue, each buying half. It was when this arrangement was made late Tuesday afternoon that Seasongood & Mayer were awarded the $111,060 bonds for which bids were received that noon. Prudden & Co. were one of the bidders on the big issue but did not bid on the one sold Wednesday.

Coupon notes sold Wednesday, bear six per cent interest, the city commissioners at their meeting Monday night having raised the rate from 5 3/4 per cent when they found there were no bidders last Friday. These bonds are for the improvement of Eureka, Market, High and Woodlawn-sts.

Breed, Elliott & Harrison of Cincinnati had agreed to take this issue of $31,368 for par and accrued interest in the event that they got the $111,060, which they did not.

No More Gray Hair — Says Science

Wonderful Clean, Colorless Liquid Restores Original Color Results in a Week

Science again has scored a triumph in the discovery of a very remarkable liquid known as Kolor-Bak. If you are gray, just apply this liquid to the hair and scalp and your hair will soon take on the actual color it had in the past. Not a trace of grayness will remain.

Kolor-Bak comes in the form of a clean and colorless liquid, containing properties which quickly restore the lost color to the hair and give it renewed vigor. And note that the one preparation is for all colors of hair. No special solution required for each color—no samples of hair required.

You will find also that with Kolor-Bak the hair has the same shade throughout. It does not appear streaked, faded or "dyed."

Every scientist, every physician, knows that gray hair is hair that has ceased to receive its normal supply of coloring matter or pigment from certain tiny cells (called follicles or papillae) in the scalp, because these cells have become inactive from illness, shock of some kind, scalp disease, dandruff, infection, neglect of the hair or lack of circulation, etc. But no matter what the cause of the grayness, it is simply amazing to see how it disappears when Kolor-Bak is used. It is a real substitute for the natural pigmentation.

DECLARES WAR AGAINST SYNDICATED BEER TRAFFIC

CHICAGO — Mayor William Dwyer of Chicago today announced war against a "syndicated beer traffic" to save the city from "poor beer."

"Beer is being sold illegally in Chicago at $50 to $60 barrel—and it isn't the best beer either," Dwyer charged.

"In order to carry on the traffic, this money is being distributed among federal and municipal officers and the consumer must pay from 30 to 40 cents a glass for poor beer."

"I am not a prohibitionist. I would like to see the people of Chicago get good, wholesome beer at a moderate price, but it can't be done, so we're going to stop the manufacture of bad beer."

BLUFFTON SCHOOL OPENS SEPT. 19

Students to Register at College Monday

Registration of students preparatory to the opening of the 1923-24 term at Bluffton college will be held next Monday, it was announced Thursday by Dr. S. K. Mosiman, president of the institution.

The college opens next Wednesday.

Officials are anticipating an enrollment of more than 450 by the start of the second semester.

Closing of the Menomonee college at Goshen, Ind., last spring means that 75 or more students from the territory formerly served by that institution will come to Bluffton college.

It is doubtful if the students will be able to find accommodations at the college dormitories and arrangements are being made to find quarters for them in Bluffton homes. Completion of Lincoln Hall, boys' dormitory, will relieve congestion. It will be ready for occupancy within a few weeks if the work progresses as well as hoped for.

Coach Bureky will arrive at the college this week and will announce his plans for the enlarged athletic program for Bluffton in the Northwestern Ohio conference.

TROUBLES LEAVE LIKE THE DEW

Lady Says Magic is the Only Word to Describe Action of Plant Juice

LIKE A DIFFERENT WOMAN

"My health troubles are disappearing like dew in the morning sun since I have started taking your Plant Juice," said Mrs. P. J. Dowd, of 24 East Eleventh street, New York City,

MRS. F. J. DOWD while talking with the Plant Juice Man recently.

"In my opinion," Mrs. Dowd continued, "magic is the only word that can describe Plant Juice and its wonderful work."

"When our baby was born, I was left in a weak, run down condition. My worst trouble was with my stomach for my food did not digest but would ferment and cause gas and at times I was in agony from the pain of it. I also had had attacks of nausea. My liver and kidneys were disordered; I was nervous and couldn't sleep right and I got so weak and run down that I looked terrible and felt worse than I looked. Everything seemed to go wrong with me and my blood circulation became poor so that my feet and hands were numb and cold, even in warm weather."

"Friends finally influenced me to take Plant Juice and I will say that the money I spent for Plant Juice was paid out the best of any money I ever spent in my life for the medicine seemed to take hold of my case at once. I am like an entirely different woman and my husband and all my friends are remarking about the change in me. I do not have one bit of gas or pain; my nerves are in fine condition and I eat and sleep well. I am not constipated as I was before; liver and kidneys do not trouble me; circulation has improved so that I do not have that cold, 'clammy' feeling in my hands and feet and, in short, I am better and stronger every way and the world surely looks grimmer to me now."

Plant Juice is sold in Lima at Hunter's drug stores at 49 Public Square and Main and Wayne-sts and at the Argonne drug store, opposite Post Office — Adv.

AWFUL NOISE

THE Chinese, before the white man began selling rifles to them, used to amuse us by wearing false faces and making frightful racket, especially with brass gongs, to scare their enemies in battle.

But maybe the Chinese knew what they were doing, after all. Professor A. M. Low, English scientist, predicts that noises will play an important part in future warfare.

"Noise," says Low, "has a very curious effect on human beings. The more civilized they become, the more noise affects them. Lots of people in the last war were sent into a serious condition by the nerve-racking effect of noise. I can imagine the aggressive use of selected noises to undermine the morale of population and the development of all sorts of anti-noise devices."

Were you ever in a keyed-up nervous condition where even slight noises made you jump? The rasp of a file, the squeak of new shoes, the monotonous drumming of fingers or shrill whistling by a boy—these are described by nervous people as "enough to drive one crazy."

Noise, even in a condition of healthy nerves, is shocking to the nervous system. It's a marvel that people in civilization are as sane as they are, considering the thousands of blows or shocks that reach their nerves daily in the form of noises.

Later, as cities become larger and noisier, there'll be campaigns against the more annoying sounds, just as there's now a "silence zone" near every hospital.

Fortunately, nature is quick to protect us. The miller gets so he ignores or doesn't hear the rumble of his millwheels. So, too, we get so the fearful din of civilization passes in one ear and out the other without our noticing it. This is because the power of receiving a sensation becomes more or less paralyzed by repetition.

The old Lima race track is to be sold for building lots—but not to the boys who bet on the races.

Some Lima men believe that staying up all night makes you as wise as an owl. Many of them fall to resting, however, that an owl has no sense during the day.

KEEPING IN TRIM

VLADIMIR De PACHMANN, celebrated Russian virtuoso, sits fiddling the keys of his beloved piano. A reporter asks him how many hours a day he practices. He answers: "How foolish! Some days I play for 19 hours, other days one hour."

So he keeps in trim by playing only when the mood strikes him. That's when all of us do the best work. What a pity life isn't arranged so we'd have to work only when we wanted to. Still, if it were, few of us would ever do a tap.

We know at least one Lima man who will not throw away his straw hat if he's honest. He will take it back to the restaurant and hang it on the hook where we left it before he started wearing it.

OUR DANGEROUS CROSSINGS

INVESTIGATION just finished by the police department shows that the dangerous railway crossings, which were called to the attention of city officials weeks ago by The Lima News, are still unimproved and that they are a menace to the public.

This newspaper made a complete survey of the crossings and reported in detail the condition of each. A belated probe by the police show little or no relief has been afforded.

The city should not delay longer a stern reminder to the various railroads that these death traps be repaired. They are bad enough in good weather; they will be infinitely worse in winter.

When we learn how happy a lark is we will tell you how happy Allen-to folk should be that we have a surveyor now who is for road improvement.

COOLIDGE ON THE INSIDE

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, who has appeared to have the inside track for the Republican nomination since the death of the late Warren G. Harding, will be nominated, we feel certain now.

We base our prediction on the fact that our own Senator Frank B. Willis has come out for the president for the nomination. Of course the fact that Frank is lending his support does not figure in the conclusion. We think that Willis is for him because the senator believes Coolidge will be nominated.

DON'T TAKE TRUTH SERUM TOO SERIOUSLY

The favorite popular conceit at present is calling everything in the way of medicine or treatment that doesn't come in pill form a "serum." The narcotic drug scopolamin (the same drug that made the headlines in "twilight sleep" a few years ago) has the effect of producing loss of memory, rather a lapse or loss of alertness, a state of indifference or unconcern; so it has been administered to persons under suspicion to see whether they would so far forget themselves and their assumed roles or stories as to betray their guilt. To call the drug "truth serum" is an inexcusable indulgence of the desire for sensationalism.

Serum is the liquid of blood minus the corpuscles or cells. Serum from the horse immunized against the poison of diphtheria is antitoxic serum or "antitoxin." Bacterins or "bacterial vaccines" are not serums, however. So when we read about a new serum there is no telling what the new remedy may be, since so many are content to call everything but pills "serums."

Scopolamin is combined with morphine and administered by hypodermic injection to numb consciousness in the method which has been so widely advertised as "twilight sleep," a method, by the way, which we were using in suitable cases in this country at least 10 years before the idea was re-imported from Germany for exploitation here. An individual fully under the influence of these drugs is drowsy dull and slow to respond but not unconscious. He can remember for only a brief time and is likely to forget what he starts out to say, even in replies of two or three words. With his memory thus inhibited or in abeyance he may, if plied with leading questions, let slip something he means to keep secret; in most instances the drug so benumbs consciousness that the subject's replies are mumbled and meaningless.

The action of scopolamin is similar to that of atropin (the active principle of belladonna); the drug has been much used by occultists for dilating the pupil and placing the accommodation at rest for examination and in the treatment of iritis. Administered internally or hypodermically scopolamin more closely resembles another drug called hyposcine (obtained from henbane) in its action on the brain. (Copyright, 1923)

SAN FRANCISCO

BY GEORGE BRITT

CHICAGO—Under one of the signs of the three golden balls on N. Clark street there trades an "Uncle" who exhibits all the traditional personal earmarks of his calling—not omitting eloquent horizontal gestures with his hands. "Uncle" wears a diamond ring which could be described only as a "stunner."

The visitor will be amazed, however, at the apparent modesty which causes the flashing set to be turned inside, and shows only a gold band on the back of the hand. An explanation is requested.

"I talk this way," answers "Uncle," waving his extended palms from side to side. "You can't see my diamond if I don't turn him around, can you?"

The world's big news around the Labor Day week-end was NOT the Japanese earthquake disaster—not for motor car vacationists. A Chicagoan just returned from an automobile trip to Worthington, D. C., and received his first information about the tragedy.

To get away from routine, he had avoided all newspapers. His only news came from conversations with other tourists. There had been no talk about the Dempsey-Firpo fight, none about Greece and Italy. One casual acquaintance told our traveler that some automobile driver had been killed, but forgot his name. Tourist talk was confined to the subjects of roads, tire troubles and traffic cops.

By their lunches ye shall know them. A construction company superintendent here uses that test to sort out his workmen for promotion to foremen. If a man brings his lunch in his pocket, just a pair of sandwiches and an apple, he won't do. He hasn't the energy. But if a workman brings down a big tin bucket, full of food, he is a likely prospect. His machinery is developing power.

One of the best sights in Chicago is a jackknife bridge raised to let a boat pass. Picture the street ahead standing upright for 100 feet or more in the air.

Paris is no more a city of bridges than Chicago. In compensation for their picturesqueness, however, Chicago endures the inconvenience of traffic interruptions whenever the bridges open. More than a dozen bridges are direct gateways to the Loop on the north and west, and each can be relied on to give a "stick 'em up" to business 20 or 30 times a day.

If you ever grieved over the raucous voices of the beauties who demonstrate fountain pens, bunion removers and cleaning fluids in drug store windows, let this bring comfort. Chicago just passed thru an epidemic of demonstrations, with an alluring salesgirl at work behind the glass at every corner. A horn projecting from the window emitted vocal explanation, but the tone was a grinding bark—irreconcilable with the girl's smiling lips. On the word of a reputable Loop druggist you may take it now that the voice is that of a phonograph and the demonstrator merely moves her lips silently to aid the illu-

YOUTH

With the tilt of a song on his lips
And the glint of the sun in his eye,
Which seldom a frown will eclipse,
A roughish young fellow goes by.

You can tell by the tilt of his head,
By the charm of his voice and its tone,
By the grace and the spring of his tread,
That never a care has he known.

His shoulders are broad and full square,
His back is as straight as a pine,
The color's still fresh in his hair
Which has long ago faded from mine.

Here is youth, clean and supple and strong;
Here is unburdened youth, passing by—
Oh, the years have been many and long
Since such a young fellow was I.

Yet time was I sang as does he,
And time was I laughed as I would
Now age with its cares burdens me,
And the best of my courage spent.

Brave boy, sing your songs while ye may,
Too soon you shall look back at
When your temples are wearing the gray
And some roughish young fellow goes by.

Man 74 Years Old Is "Rejuvenated" In 3 Weeks Without Gland Operation

Kansas Contractor Tells Wonderful Results Obtained in Test of New Scientific Discovery

Thomas J. Glascock, 74, well-known Kansas contractor, declares he has virtually been made young again by the recently discovered korex compound, which is pronounced superior to "gland treatments" as an invigorator and revitalizer.

"I feel like I did at 35," says Mr. Glascock, "and seem to be getting stronger every day. During my three weeks' use of the new discovery, pains and weaknesses of many years' standing disappeared almost magically. Today I am as vigorous and supple as I was in the prime of life. Furthermore, when I began using the compound, my memory was virtually gone and I was almost blind. Now my mind is clear and active and I can read the finest print without difficulty."

In order to find out whether the results were lasting, Mr. Glascock waited six months before reporting on his test of the discovery. On this point he says:

"Every passing day strengthens my conviction that my restoration is not only complete but permanent. I can't express the happiness this great discovery has brought to me. It has made me 'young' again."

Similar reports are being made almost daily. For instance, D. W. Wood of New Orleans, past 60 years of age, says: "The compound has brought me back to as good, healthy physical condition as I enjoyed at 35. I am apparently as supple as at 25 and my eyesight is better than for years. I would not take $5,000 for what the discovery has done for me."

The compound is a simple home treatment in tablet form, absolutely harmless, yet rated as the quickest and most powerful invigorator known. Acting directly on lower spinal nerve centers and certain glands and blood vessels, it often brings amazing benefits in 24 to 36 hours, according to thousands who have tested it.

"It is wonderful," writes a resident of Hollister, Cal. "In less than 24 hours you can feel it does the work. It makes one feel young as a young man. I am more than happy and glad I tried it." Another Californian says "The compound is a world's wonder. I feel like I was about 25 and here I am nearly fifty!"

The compound has been tested in all parts of the country and has won the praises of thousands who suffered from nerve weakness, loss of vigor, neurasthenia, premature age, impaired glandular activity and lack of animation and vital force. Its effects seem to be virtually the same on both young and old. Physicians say the principal active ingredient of the compound gives speedy satisfaction in obstinate cases that defy all other treatments. Elderly people pronounce the discovery a real "fountain of youth."

Realizing that thousands of enfeebled, half-alive folk may consider such news "too good to be true," the American distributors have agreed to supply a double strength treatment of the discovery on a guaranteed trial basis to everyone in need of such a preparation. If you wish to test the compound, write in strict confidence to the Melton Laboratories, 3753 Melton Building, Kansas City, Mo., for a two-dollar treatment: of korex compound, mailed in a plain sealed wrapper. You may enclose two dollars, or simply send your name, without money, and pay two dollars and postage on delivery, as you prefer. In either case, however, if you report within ten days that you are not satisfied, the laboratories will refund the purchase price upon request. These laboratories are nationally known and thoroughly reliable, so nobody need hesitate about accepting their guaranteed offer.

The Isle Of Retribution

BY EDISON MARSHALL

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Ned Cornet, his fiancée, Lenore, and Jess, a seaman, are survivors of a shipwreck. They land on an island inhabited only by a man named Doomsdorf and his Indian wife. Doomsdorf tells them he has named the island "The Isle of Retribution" and that they must be his willing slaves. Ned, however, is no match for the big man's strength and is badly hurt. Doomsdorf, in command of the island, proves himself a faithful watchdog for her master. Jess is the strongest of the two girls and makes up her mind to be ready for any opportunity of escape. Lenore seems helpless to cope with the situation.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"But I really must get down to essentials. It's so long since I've talked to the outside world that I can't help being garrulous. To begin with—I came here some years ago, not entirely by my own choice. Of course, not even the devil comes to such a hell as this from his own choice. There's always pressure from above."

He paused again, hardly aware of the horrified gaze with which his hearers regarded him. A startling change had come over him when he spoke again. His eyes looked red as a weasel's in the shadowed room; the tones of his voice were more subdued, yet throbbing with passion.

"I remember gray walls, long ago, in Siberia. He went on slowly and gravely. 'I was not much more than a boy, a student at a great university—and then there were gray walls in a gray, snow-swept land, and gray cells with barred doors, and men standing over on watch with loaded rifles, and thousands of human cattle in prison garb. It was almost strangle west of here, far beyond Bering Sea; and some times inspectors would come; stylish people like yourselves, except that they were bearded men of Petrograd, and look at us thru the bars as at animals in a zoo, but they never interfered with the way things were run.' I was an enemy of society, they said—so I became an enemy of society in reality. Right then I learned a hate for society and a desire to burn out the heart of such weak things as you."

He turned to them, snarling like a beast.

"One day the chance came to escape. While more cowardly men would have hesitated, I pushed thru and out. On the way I learned a little lesson—that none of the larger creatures of the wild die as easily as men. I found out that there is nothing more to killing a man than to your way than killing a catbird I want to eat. I didn't feel any worse about it afterward."

"I had to come across here. I couldn't forever escape the hue and cry that was raised. Ultimately I landed on this island—with Sundry and a few steel traps."

"In this climate we can trap almost the whole year round. We can start putting them out in a few days more—keep them out clear till June. Every year a ship—the Intrepid, that you've likely heard of—touches here to buy my furs—just one tip a year—and it leaves her supplies of all kinds in exchange. But don't take hope from that. Hope is one thing you want to get out of your systems, the captain of the Intrepid and the Japanese crew are the only human beings that know I live here, except yourselves—that know there's a human occupant on this island. On their yearly visit I'll see to it."

PATTERN FOR TODAY

A DRESS WITH NEW FEATURES FOR THE GROWING GIRL. 496. Plaid gingham with linen in a contrasting color would be attractive for this style. Printed cotton, crepe or rayon are also pleasing. The waist portions are cut with skirt sections, that are joined to plaid skirt portions. The short sleeve is cut in one with the waist. The long bell shaped sleeve is added.

This pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. A 12 year size requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. To trim as illustrated with contrasting material requires 1-2 yard 36 inches wide.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps. NAME..... Town..... Address Pattern Department, The Lima News.

"GLAD TO SEE YOU BUCKING UP," HE COMMENTED.

that none of them get a sight of you.

"Once I was used to working all day from dawn to dark, with an armed master on guard over me. It isn't going to be that way from now on. I'm going to be the armed master. The next few days you're going to spend building yourselves a shack and cutting winter fuel. Then each of you will have a trap line—a good stiff one, too. Every day you'll go out and follow your line of traps—baiting, skinning and fleshing, drying the skins when you get to the cabins. You'll know what it really is to be cold, then; you'll know what work means, too. With you three I expect to triple my usual season's catch, building up three times as fast the fortune I need."

"All my life I've looked forward to a chance to give society the same kind of treatment it gave me—and when that fortune is large enough to work with there will be a new dynasty arise in Russia."

"When I said to abandon hope I meant it. You have no boat, and I'll give you no chance to make one. The distance is too great across the ice ever to make it thru; besides, you won't be given a chance to try."

"Even if your dotting fathers should send out a search party, they will overlook this little island. It was just a freak of the currents that you landed here—I don't see why you weren't blown to Tzar Island, immediately east of here. When they find you aren't there, and pick up any other lifeboats from your ship that in all probability landed there, they'll be glad enough to turn around and go back. Especially if they see your lifeboat floating bottom upward in the water!"

He paused, scanning their pale, drawn faces. He turned to Ned first, but the latter was too immersed in his own despair ever to return his stare. Lenore didn't raise her golden head to meet his eyes. But before his gaze ever got to her, Jess was on her feet.

"Don't be too sure of yourself," she cautioned quickly. He looked with sudden amazement into her kindling eyes. "Men like you have gone in the face of society before. You're not so far up here that the aim of the law can't reach you." The blond man smiled into her earnest face. "Go on, my dear," he urged.

"It's got you once, and it'll get you again. And I warn you that if you put one indignity on us, do one thing you've said—you'll pay for it in the end—just as you'll pay for that fiendish crime that you committed today."

As her eyes met his, straight and unflinching, the expression of contemptuous amazement died in his face. Presently his interest seemed to quicken. It was as if he had seen her for the first time, searching eyes resting first on hers, then on her lips, dropping down over her athletic form, and again into her eye. He seemed lost in sinister speculations.

XVI. Doomsdorf had seemingly achieved his purpose, and his prisoners lay crushed in his hands. A fear infinitely worse than that of toil or hardship had evidently killed the fighting spirit.

It in Jess; Lenore had been broken by Doomsdorf's first words. And now all the structure of Ned's life had seemingly toppled about him.

For in this moment of unspeakable remorse, he found he could blame no one but himself for the disaster. Every year men traversed these desolate waters to buy furs from the Indians; he had been in a staunch boat, and with a little care, a little foresight, the journey could have been made in perfect safety. It was a man's venture, surely; but he could have carried thru it he had met it like a man instead of a weakling.

In spite of his own despair, his own bitter hopelessness, he must do what he could to keep hope alive in Lenore and Jess. It was the only chance he had to pay, even in the most pitiful, slight degree for what he had done to them. He must always try to make their lot easier; doing their work when he cheer, maintaining an attitude of cheer, saving the lie of hope, when hope seemed dead in his breast.

And that is why, when Doomsdorf looked at him again, he found him in some way straightened, his eyes more steadfast, his lips in a firmer, stronger line.

"Glad to see you bucking up," he commented lightly.

Ned turned soberly. "I am bucking up," he answered. "I see now that you've gone into something you can't get away with. Miss Gilbert was right; in the end you'll find yourself laid out by the heels."

"You think so, eh?" Doomsdorf yawned and stretched his arms. "Just try something—that's all. And since you're feeling so good, I don't see why you shouldn't get to work. You can still put in a fairly good morning. And you!"—he turned, with catlike swiftness that marked so many of his movements, toward

LETTER FROM SALLY ATER-TON TO BEATRICE GRIMSHAW.

DEAR BEE: I am wondering if anyone of your high-brow precivilities ever reads the answers to the lovelorn, or the unhappily married, or whatever you may call those agony columns which seem so silly and utterly futile. At least that is what these columns, with their questions and answers, always has seemed to me until right now.

Bee, I remember you telling me one day, when I told you I was going to marry Sam, that you did not think I loved him. After he had his trouble with the "bad booze" I was sure I did not. I was so incensed at his doing something against which I had warned him so many times. Then, as he seemed, in his blindness, so brave and more splendid than he had ever been in health, a kind of divine pity filled my heart and for a time I really thought it was love.

But I've come to the conclusion now it was partly remorse and partly pity. I thought I had no right to find any more fault with him when he was paying so dearly for his mistake.

Sam is a nice chap. He wants to do everything in the world for me but, like many other men, he wants to do it in his own way. He is kindness itself, but it is his kind of kindness, not mine.

Mr. Hamilton is giving him a very good salary and he doesn't want me to work and, Bee, I would go mad if I didn't work. I'm doing very well in this advertising department. I have been able to write one or two stock sales advertisements which have brought in a great many women customers.

Mr. Hamilton praised me unstintingly and I think it rather annoyed Sam, for he spoke up quite brusquely, saying, "I am sorry, Mr. Hamilton, that you are saying this to Sally for, thanks to you, I am earning enough to support us both in comfort and I have the same rocted objection that every other American man has, who has any manhood at all about him, to seeing my wife work."

Before I could control myself my quick temper got the best of me and I said, "I've never seen many American men who weren't perfectly willing that their wives should cook over hot stoves, bend over wash-boards and do the hardest possible work for long hours if they were doing it to

Sam gave me a look that was murderous and poor Mr. Hamilton looked troubled. With the intention, however, of pouring oil on the troubled waters he said, "Now look here, Atherton, you are not going to expect me to side with you and lose one of the best ad writers I have, are you?"

"I don't expect anyone to side with me, not even Sally herself," said Sam, and he went out of the room and slammed the door, just like an angry child.

I looked at Mr. Hamilton apprehensively, but he only laughed and said, "Never mind, dear, a half-blind man has enough to contend with."

There, I've said more than I had intended, and lest I say more still I am going to close.

ALWAYS IN THE LEAD

From the CHICAGO EVENING POST
By Genevieve Harris

It has been done at last! A novel has been transferred to the screen exactly as written, without any "adaptation" or modification or mutilation. An author's story has been visualized just as he described it and not as a director thought he ought to have written it.

Having Percy Marmont for the role of the hero was, of course, a piece of rare good fortune. If Hutchinson had taken Marmont as his model for Mark Sabre he couldn't have described him more perfectly. There remained only the question as to whether Marmont, good actor that he is, could measure up to the acting requirements of the role. He isn't on the screen long before you realize that he not only looks like "Puzzlehead" Sabre but that he actually has become the character for the duration of the picture. Percy Marmont's playing is so remarkably fine that it alone would make the picture a great one.

With the leading character absolutely right (and Mark Sabre is, after all, the heart and soul of Hutchinson's story) the other characters seem naturally to fall into line, as though they took inspiration from the inspired playing of the lead. All the whimsically drawn personages of the story are there—High Jinks and Low Jinks, Bright Effie, (excellently played by Gladys Leslie) Young Perch and his mother, the hypocritical Twynning, a role to which Sydney Herbert contributes some fine playing, the exasperating Mabel, perfectly characterized by Margaret Fielding, and, of course, the lovely and unhappy Nona, Lady Tybar (Ann Forest) and her dashing but cruel husband.

The story, when followed scene for scene, proves to have not only enough action for a long picture play, but it is action which mounts steadily in a climax of great dramatic force. The structure of the novel was unusual, the first two-thirds a picture of leisurely life in a small English town, followed by a series of catastrophes which grew, one from the other, with Sabre, an innocent victim, crushed beneath them. These episodes are even more moving than when described in words. There is something inevitable about the way events shape themselves that keeps the story from ever becoming melodramatic.

The exterior scenes were filmed in England and possess a charm all their own. They are very different from Hollywood "English" scenes and add to the genuineness of the production. "If Winter Comes" is one of the finest pictures the screen has ever shows! The Fox Film Company, Director Millard, Percy Marmont and the other players and all those who had part in making this production, merit praise for their skill and their sliver. To them and to the author of the story should go the thanks of the public for providing an entertainment so worthwhile as this.

THE SAN FRANCISCO JOURNAL
"The settings are worthy of a story in themselves. The glimpses of London and Brighton; the magnificent English Manor house, with its moat, its stately pond and rose garden; its decorative peacocks; the little villa in Tib-borough; the wooded bridge path, all of these are tantalizingly beautiful."

THE SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE
Next to Mark Sabre, perhaps the most interesting thing in the picture is the hurried rush of war that seems a note of dread and terror. It is not overdone and is brilliantly executed. Whether you have read the book or haven't, you are bound to enjoy "If Winter Comes!"

THE SAN FRANCISCO DAILY NEWS
"So far as we can recall this is the one instance of a book—any book worth reading—that has been transposed to the screen with absolute fidelity. Percy Marmont takes off the puzzlehead to the life! Unmistakable a mixture of Tommy Trullies and a Locke hero, he is a curiously coloring figure, the kind that both men and women like. Marmont's portrayal is a rare study in personality, shading from the misanthropic humor to the most devastating emotion conceivable. It is as fine acting as has ever been witnessed, on screen or stage."

From The CHICAGO TRIBUNE
By Mae Zinke

Good Morning!
If you don't like "If Winter Comes" then I declare, I won't know what to make of you! I loved it from the moment it started until the final—when I was sorry the time had come to go. Funny thing about it is—you wouldn't think the book would make much of a movie. Not enough action. Plenty of dramatic situations—but such quiet ones! One's heart failed at the thought of a director's getting across—well—High Jinks and Low Jinks, for instance. Glory be, Mr. Millard caught the author's thought. I have seen a telegram from A. S. Hutchinson, who wrote the book and in it he professes to be entirely satisfied with the screen version of his story. It should be. No book could have been made into a better picture.

IMMORTAL CHARACTERS OF HUTCHINSON IN THE ABSORBING DRAMA "IF WINTER COMES"

Comment on "If Winter Comes"

By Professor Mark Barry, late of Col. Ambia University)

Of all the roles in modern fiction, that of Mark Sabre in "IF WINTER COMES" is one of the most extremely difficult to act. But in the film version of the book by A. S. Hutchinson now at the Lyric theatre, from which this review was taken, Percy Marmont as Mark Sabre lives, acts, suffers, struggles, forgives, and falls beneath the terrific blows fate has dealt him. In other words Percy Marmont is Mark Sabre for the duration of the play.

This is the first picture to my knowledge that is scrupulously faithful to the aim and meaning of the author. Those who have read the book will see before them Mark Sabre, Nona, Mabel, Effie, Twynning, Fortane and even the buoyant High and Low Jinks genuinely portrayed in all their various relations to the story and to each other. They will see Mark Sabre as Hutchinson conceived him in all his touching simplicity, his tender kindness, his patience in suffering, his staunch endeavor to follow the path of duty and of justice. They will see Mabel in her unfortunate situation of the well-meaning, well-beloved order but misunderstanding wife, wedded to a companion good but incompatible with her nature. They will see with clearness the admirable soul of the unhappy Nona who made her unfortunate choice but learned the truth too late, and whose compassion was that of doing her duty heroically, resignedly, and rather hopelessly in the hour in which she was needed. They will see Effie, the beautiful, unsophisticated child of the people, the innocent victim of a blind and misdirected social force aided and abetted in its destructive power by the machinations of the evil genius Twynning. Twynning! The Devil's impersonation, the cautious, shuffling hypocritical, friend-to-face, the bitter implacable enemy in reality. All these who have until now been to the world just "picture-book-people" live, breathe, feel, think and act their little dramas before you until you forget that you are in a theatre, and all absorbed breathlessly follow the heart appealing story to its conclusion.

"IF WINTER COMES" is truly a marvelous picture. To see it is an experience in itself, an experience even deeper and more edifying than the reading of the book.

Cast Carefully Chosen For "If Winter Comes"

There is one point that William Fox insisted upon when engaging the cast for the screen version of A. S. M. Hutchinson's story, "If Winter Comes." That was that every character must be the physical counterpart of the one in the book.

First and foremost is the Mark Sabre "Old Puzzlehead." In Percy Marmont was found an actor who not only looked the part but had many of the mental characteristics of this puzzle-head Englishman, who could not be moved once he made up his mind he was doing the right thing. Born near the scenes of the Hutchinson story, Mr. Marmont has acted in all four quarters of the globe and is known as a thoroughly equipped and sincere dramatic artist who has been identified with many a screen and stage success.

Eight English Towns Are Used to Visualize "Tidborough" as described by author, A. S. M. Hutchinson

When A. S. M. Hutchinson wrote "If Winter Comes" he contributed to the world of fiction the literary sensation of a decade. William Fox has produced the screen counterpart of this now famous novel which bids fair to become the most talked of photoplay of the season.

Photographed in England, in the actual scenes pictured by the author, while have become so familiar to the average American household, these the photoplay is a fine authentic achievement which has commanded the profuse commendation of Mr. Hutchinson, himself.

FIRST MOVIE COWBOY RETURNS

(By Gertrude Gillham)

REVIVAL of western screen drama has created need for the all but lost art of cattle roping. Not mere washline lassoing, but the cunning of the running noose and the snaky riat is what audiences have ordered. And they demand it of screen heroes who, until cast for such roles, may not have known the difference between a mustang and a charley horse, but have some advantages over the cowhands as actors.

This has been the cue for Fred Burns to make his appearance on the movie act.

Burns was once the champion trick roper of the world, and was the first motion picture cowboy. Now he is teaching otherwise respectable young men in pictures how to snare longhorns and to snub up wild horses after the manner of the old range.

Cowboy Burns comes from the old school of plain riders. He reined Montana with his father's family in a covered wagon in '86. He played in the first motion picture made by the late John Wamamaker, the "Cody in 1905 as hero of 'The Montana Hold-Up,' filmed at Cody, Wyoming, School Marm," done in 1906, he made his entry as the original movie cowpuncher. His wife and brother also appeared in that picture.

Recently he and his brother appeared as riders in the Lasky production of Zane Grey's "To the Last Man," for which Burns taught Richard Dix how to wield a rope for the leading role. Expert horsemanship makes them stirrup companions with such players as Dix, Noah Beery, Robert Edeson and Frank Campeau in the thrilling sequences of this picture.

Producers are beginning to exercise as much care in making new westerns as they do with period and drawing room plays. They are striving to give them the dignity of "productions" in place of the machine made mediocrity on which the public had become overfed.

Consequently old-timers, like Fred Burns, who know both the life of the range and the technique of the screen, are in high demand.

In Maurice Tourneur's current production, "Jealous Fools," he promises an unhappy ending saying, "Now I

Tender Incidents In "Children Of The Dust" At Sigma

WHAT a poor little boy of New York streets did to get one insignificant flower in a big private park is one of the many human incidents in "Children of the Dust" which opens today at the Sigma theatre. It was directed by Frank Borzage, the young director who made "Humoresque."

When the little urchin's mother dies, he goes out to get a flower for her. As he climbs the iron gates of Gramercy Park, the gruff old caretaker grabs him and beats him se-

"If Winter Comes" Opens At Lyric Friday

STARTING tomorrow with "If Winter Comes" the Lyric theatre will inaugurate a series of "Bigger and Better" pictures, each and every one of which easily assumes prominence among the better productions of the screen. Thus far the management announces the following productions which will appear in the order named: "If Winter Comes," "The Spoilers," "Three Wise Fools," "Enemies of Women," "Main Street" and Elinor Glyn's masterpiece "6 Days." More than interesting in this connection is the further announcement by the Lyric management that the above galaxy of pictures constitutes but a starter in the future procession of productions more than well worth while which is to emphasize the policy of progressiveness already fixed by the Lyric in its determination to give Lima the best there is to be had in cinema entertainment.

A. S. M. Hutchinson's great novel "If Winter Comes," scarcely needs comment. That it was a "best seller," that it succeeded in thoroughly capturing the approval of the reading public to the point where it has become all but classic is all too well known. It only remains to add that the picture really outshines the novel. Millions who have gloried in the supremely human story of Mark Sabre, and who have wept with him during his tribulations, will hardly pass up the opportunity to see him come to life on the screen. Margaret Fielding assumes the role of the cold, tyrannical unimaginative, nagging wife of "Puzzlehead" Sabre, Percy Marmont, as Mark Sabre, portrays the lovable, whimsical, yet courageous hero of this wonderfully fascinating modern story.

There is one scene in this picture which alone is well worth the price of admission. It would seem here that the entire cast thru collective inspiration rises to the very heights of supreme achievement. It is herein that the hero, tortured by the racking accusations of pit-see whether the declaration is true that the public demands the conventional, bromide clinch for the final fadeout."

Corrine Griffith and Conway Tearle will play the leading roles in First National's picturization of Gertrude Atherton's "Black Oxen."

Rupert Hughes goes to Yellowstone Park with two pullman coaches of screen celebrities to film his "Law Against Law," dealing with the divorce question. Why so long a trip for locale when Los Angeles, an integral part of Hollywood, leads the world in divorces?

Reginald Barker's new picture for Mayer has progressed by title from "The Master Woman," to "The Man Thou Gavest Me," to "The Eternal Struggle," its present and permanent (?) name. Quite the unusual transition for any poor boob who starts off assuming he's master of woman, what?

When Archer is imprisoned for the deed the boy's forgiveness and sympathy arouses a love and remorse in the old chap's soul. After his release he takes the boy as his own.

The story is simple, but pulsates with life as it is really lived. The old man is played by Bert Woodruff, while the boy is done by Pauline Leen, and later by Johnnie Walker. George Garon, Lloyd Hughes, George Nichols and others make up the all-star cast.

less prosecution—innocent of any crime, but with overwhelming circumstantial evidence against him is saved only thru the love of a noble hearted woman who salvages his very soul. It is the mightiest climax in the most soul-stirring drama of the day as achieved on the screen. It is a scene which it has been well said "has thrilled the heart of the world."

Seldom has it been the fortune of local movie fans to have such a genuine feast spread before them as is assured in the Lyric's announcement of assured attractions of such magnitude and it goes without saying that more than ordinary interest will be thus awakened in what is promised as the regular entertainment menu for the coming winter season. It hardly seems possible that anyone who is at all interested in the best there is in moving pictures will think for a moment of missing a single one of these six great headliners.

Abundance Of Entertainment On New Keith Bill

THERE is an abundance of good things, from a vaudeville standpoint, offered in the new bill, which begins at the Faurot, Thursday, and which will remain for the balance of the week. Doyle & Elaine, two clever girls, offer "A Study in Tan," which is said to be a delightful concoction of melody, song and dance, all blended together in the highest style of the art. They promise new songs, stories and steps.

The Kilkenny Duo, is another act, symbolic of the "old sod." They term their act "The Act Different," in which is interspersed humorous Irish characters, with an atmosphere of genuine Irish environment. It will please those who like celtic delinquencies, wit and native songs.

The quest for novelties never ceases this is true not alone on the dramatic stage, but in variety as well. In this case it is a singing duck. This strange novelty will be introduced by the Visser Trio. It is a novelty just from Europe, and is said to be ex-cruciatingly funny, at least it has proved to be the "fun hit," on every bill this season.

Marguerita Paulda, must not be forgotten in this bill. She offers an act which she terms "A Study Song of Boys." Her act is of the refined order. She is one of the most distinguished whistlers on the stage, and aside from this she offers vocal and instrumental numbers which should be eminently satisfactory for all who like good music.

The act de resistance, which Manager Clark offers, with an otherwise well selected coterie of vaudevillians is the "Four Pearls." It will be found an odd and at the same time a distinguished act from the standpoint of dancing. The quartette are among the most expert dancers of the present day, and will revive the old time dances, such as the "Lancashire Clog," so much enjoyed by old time theatregoers. But they do not neglect all the modern dances. Two women and two men comprise the personnel. The act is set in a background of satin and the costumes worn are rich and beautiful.

Real Financial Service

The Franklin Finance Company was incorporated under the laws of the State of Ohio in 1920 for the purpose of making construction loans secured by real estate mortgages; the purchase of mortgages secured by real estate; and the purchase of commercial paper well secured by mortgages on automobiles, household appliances and similar equipment.

The Franklin Finance Company is essentially a financial institution but operates upon a plan quite different from our banks and building loans. Banks lend on short time commercial paper; building loans lend on long time real estate mortgages. The Franklin Finance Company serves in the field between the banks and building loans. A great need for this Company has been created by the popular "Own your own home" movement and the rapid growth of the automobile and household appliance industries.

Two-thirds of all retail sales are made on the installment or time-payment plan. At the time of purchase the buyer does not pay the full purchase price in cash, yet desires the immediate use of the home, automobile or appliance. For such immediate use the buyer is willing to pay a charge in addition to the cash selling price. On the other hand the seller or dealer, whose capital is limited, must have an outlet for discounting these notes and mortgages which are accepted from the buyer as part of the purchase price. The Franklin Finance Company specializes in this business of purchasing these well secured notes and mortgages. This is a thoroughly safe and profitable business and renders a valuable service to the builder, the merchant and the public.

The safety, excellent interest return and convertibility into cash of

are thus assured by the rapidity and certainty of the Company's turnover of its capital. The average time required for each account is seven months. Consequently the interest rate on Franklin 8% Certificates is earned several times over.

TWO GREAT FIGHTERS READY TO BATTLE FOR TITLE

Rixey Rials Alexander While He Pitches Air Tight Ball And Blanks Cubs

Dempsey And Firpo Ready To Battle Friday

NEW YORK—(Associated Press)—Luis Angel Firpo woke up in New York Thursday within twenty minutes ride of the ring in the Polo Grounds where Friday evening he will make an attempt to take from Jack Dempsey the heavyweight championship of the world. Dempsey was still in his cottage in Saratoga Springs, where he finished his training Wednesday and he will come to New York Thursday.

Dempsey will put up at the Hotel Belmont for his one night in the city before the fight, while Firpo is staying with friends and trainers at an uptown apartment.

The ticket sale, which Rickard estimates will be about $1,300,000, will be all over before the gates are opened Friday evening, if the promoter's guess is right.

Followers and trainers of both men stated Thursday that the battles were in finest condition possible, although there were rumors of a cold in the champion's chest. However, the betting odds remain stationary.

Fight fans from far places began pouring into the city and the hotels gradually filled with people whose talk was all of the big bout. South American diplomats and attaches from the Washington embassies drifted into town and started making preparations for the celebration they hope to be able to hold. While fans were chasing tickets, police were chasing ticket speculators, who are said to be selling their pasteboards for as much as $125. Many are said to have changed hands at this price.

Notables of every degree and variety will be at the fight, from the champion blind baggage rider of the world on the benches to the titled and decorated gentry at the ringside. There also will be a large number of the fair sex in the arena.

The gathering will include many leaders in the business, financial and political worlds who have come from Washington and from various industrial centers to witness the contest. The champions will meet for the first time tomorrow afternoon when they go to the state athletic commission's headquarters to be weighed in.

DEMPSEY LUCKY DAY
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—(Associated Press)—Deliberately selecting the "thirteenth" on which to travel because he believes it will bring him luck, Jack Dempsey Thursday deserts his cottage to move on to New York where, Friday night he will defend his world's heavyweight championship against Louis Angel Firpo.

The champion accompanied by a little bunch of faithful followers, plans to motor to Albany, 40 miles away, and board a private compartment there for the rail trip to New York.

Dempsey's party will include Mike Trent, the Chicago detective sergeant who acts as pal and bodyguard to the champion; Joe Benjamin, Pacific coast lightweight; Jerry Luvadis, the trainer and Johnny Dempsey, a young brother. They will be met by manager Kearns in New York and escorted to a hotel to remain in seclusion.

It was a day of handshaking for the champion as he went among his friends he has made to bid them goodbye and thank them for their messages of "good luck."

Dempsey spent yesterday very much in seclusion, reading a batch of mail and hundreds of telegrams sent by admirers throughout the world.

His only public appearance was in the morning when he took an hour's walk over the hilly roads surrounding the lake, and a brief stay in Saratoga Springs where he invoked the skill of a barber to improve his personal appearance. The champion will go to the ring with a fresh hair cut, and with a growth of black stubble on his face.

Manager Kearns will be in charge of Dempsey's corner tomorrow night, with three assistants. The other seconds will be Joe Benjamin, Luvadis, the trainer, and Dempsey's brother-in-law, Barney Dempsey, another brother, wanted to be in the corner, but neglected to apply for a second's license in time.

Guess Who Will Win

Firpo adherents are as scarce in Lima as flowing water in the Sahara desert. If Dempsey goes according to the opinion of local followers of the squared circle, he'll figuratively eat Firpo up. Perhaps there is a good deal of biased opinion, because as good Americans, the thought of having the championship go to South America, is not relished.

Here they are: F. C. Cunningham, First National Bank: Don't know anything about it. Not in my line. J. R. Thibert, coach Central High: Dempsey in seven rounds. I believe Firpo to be a good man however. Warren Basinger—Basinger Jewelry Co: Firpo is inexperienced, look for Dempsey to win early.

George Bayly, First National Bank: Dempsey will win in early rounds. George Ritzler, Sigma Theatre: Hate to see title go to South America. A. H. Stolzenbach—Insurance: Firpo is a big powerful bull, but I expect Dempsey to win in 6 rounds. Warren Snyder—Thompson-McKinnon: My favorite is Dempsey, but I believe Firpo has a chance.

As A Matter of Fact

BY HARRY BRADBURY
Sports Editor.

The total amount of money wagered on the Dempsey-Firpo contest does not begin to compare with the total amount of other championship affairs. Of course it is impossible to give a correct amount, but in the aggregate probably $50,000 would cover all.

There have been a few big events in American sporting history where wagering is as slack as in this bout. This is strange when the importance of the event is taken into consideration. Being an international match and between two of the most prominent boxers living. The truth of the matter is that sportsmen do not like the stipulations and conditions under which these men are boxing.

In making a wager it is necessary to do so under specific understanding of probabilities. That Dempsey will do one particular thing at some definite time. This makes odds higher, and is undoubtedly one reason for little money being placed.

If the contest was to a finish it would be much easier to form an opinion, but where the contest goes only fifteen rounds the hazard is specifically stating what one man will do makes the odds prohibitive. But it is a fact that the amount of money being wagered is very little.

PLUNGERS USUALLY PICK WRONG

If you will study the betting proposition in fights that have passed you will find that in a majority of times, the real plungers have been on the wrong side. While we are led to believe the odds of 3 and as good as 3-1 to 1 are excessive, there have been other championship affairs of the same importance where the odds have been greater. They were placing 4 to 1 on Sullivan when Corbett beat him, and in the enormous amount wagered on Jeffries to beat Johnson the wisest plungers lost their money. If you knew the outcome of the Willard-Dempsey bout from a wager point of view you would find that the Willard money far overbalanced the Dempsey favorers.

And so it is. Is this significant of the outcome of the Dempsey-Firpo bout? Wherever you find several sports you will invariably find the conversation centered around these two pugilists, and you will also find many Firpo enthusiasts, but if you want to wager on Dempsey you will find few willing to back their opinions of the South American winning. So far as the small amounts that have already been put up it is safe to say that it is unprecedented in sporting circles. Are they holding off until the last minute? Are they waiting for the South American contingent to show up? What ever the reason may be the fact remains that from a betting point of view there is little excitement.

Famous Indian Team To Play Sunday

The Lima Independents are booked for two games at the Murphy st grounds Sunday. They will have for their opponents the strong Nebraska Indian team. Because of the fact that there were, earlier in the season, three games booked with these Redskins, a double header is necessary to play out the schedule. The reason for this is that the Indians are booked to play games in New Orleans next week, and from there they will go direct to Havana, Cuba, for a long stay.

This team of native American Indians are direct from the government reservation, very member is a full-blooded Indian. Since they left for a tour of the Eastern states they have played 67 games and have lost but 5. There are noted Indian athletes among the number, men who have starred in football and other athletic sports at Carlisle, notably the catcher Sandy Timothy, who was one of the aces of a few seasons ago on that noted gridiron eleven. Aside from base ball and football he is a natural athlete and has dominated practically all of the meets where the American Indian took part.

John Westley, pitcher, is a full-blooded Cree. He is contrary to what is usually supposed of the stoic nature of the red man; he is "one smiling Indian." With his smile he certainly can pitch. He has pitched on the eastern trip. He is certain that he can repeat his performance here. Chinese Brown, will pitch the extra game.

Manager Halloran is gradually strengthening his lineup. There will be new faces seen Sunday, among them, Schaffer, late of the Ontario league, and Heath of the Iowa state league. Fish, who has been stitching good ball, will be in one of the games and Comstock will pitch the other.

From the standpoint that the Indians are about the strongest team that has visited Lima this season, a good game can be expected.

Eppa Rixey Outpitched Alexander As Reds Win

To tumble from an exalted position sometimes is not without some satisfaction because it is possible to light on a soft feathery place instead of the cold cruel bricks. This is what happened to the Cincinnati Reds. The day before they had suffered the ignominy of defeat at the hands of the fast going Pirates; Wednesday they had the satisfaction of beating the Chicago Cubs with the great Alexander in the box. This is two pitching aces they had beaten in a few days. Wilber Cooper, suffered severely in trying to help the Pirates along. It was confidently expected by Bill Killifer that Grover Cleveland, would have no trouble and he was sent to the mound. The master of curve balls, suffered the same fate as Cooper, and the Reds got on the majority side of a 4-0 score.

But in the matter of some pitching, Eppa Rixey, must not be lost sight of. He pitched against the Cubs what resulted in perhaps his strongest game of the season. He had perfect control and a fast ball that resembled a machine gun in manipulation. The very best the Cubs could do was to get one man as far as third base. That ended their efforts scorewards. Rixey got the highest quality of support to back him up. It was a faultless game so far as the Reds were concerned. It was a sad disappointment to Alexander. He was trying for his twentieth victory of the season.

YANKS TAKE LONG LEAP

The Yanks won two from the White Sox, at the Yankee Stadium Wednesday, and in so doing took a long leap towards clinching the pennant. The Huggins crew are ahead of the nearest competitor for fifteen and a half games. The Cleveland team have 26 more games to play and the Yanks 21. Should Cleveland win all its remaining games, the Yanks would need only ten victories in the 21 games they still have to play. That would make the standing:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
New York	98	56	.636
Cleveland	97	57	.630
Pittsburgh	90	65	.580
Cincinnati	87	67	.563

NEW YORK—The Yankees won twice yesterday at the Yankee Stadium, with the help of the powerful bat of jumping Joe Dugan, who leaned on a homer in the third inning of the first game, which the New Yorkers won 2 to 1, and drove home two runs in the eighth inning of the second game, which was taken by the score of 5 to 3.

In the only other American League game the Detroit Tigers defeated the Washington Senators, 6 to 4, in 12 innings. The Detroiters overcame the four run lead which the Senators had attained in the first three innings, and waltzed out of the field with the laurels.

In the National League the Giants and the Pirates were idle, while the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Chicago Cubs, 4 to 0. The National League leaders now stand with New York five and a half games ahead of the Pirates and six and a half ahead of the Reds.

In Philadelphia, the Brooklyn Robins defeated the Phillies six to four. Each team made thirteen hits.

The first rather serious accident on local football fields, occurred Wednesday while Central High was practicing. Durban Kniesly, who was considered the most likely tackle of the team, in some manner, not exactly understood broke his leg. At the time the accident occurred, according to Coach Theibert, the young player was alone; there was no interference on the part of any of the other players. He was taken to the St. Rita hospital. He will be out of the game for at least six weeks.

NEW YORK — (Associated Press)

Selling was renewed at the opening of today's market with some of the active speculative groups suffering in the decline. Losses in a number of instances ranged from 1 to 2 points among the industrials and specialties with several railroad shares also exhibiting heaviness. Buying orders were encountered for shares at the lower levels, DuPont, Foundation Company and Jones Brothers Tea scoring advances of about a point each. Foreign exchanges opened lower.

Unfavorable foreign political news including a Spanish revolt and continued lack of agreement on the Italian-Greek controversy, influenced further selling for both accounts during the first hour today with bear operators taking full advantage of the reported slowing down in the steel industry. Steel shares, however, were no heavier than other popular stocks and U. S. Steel met support at 89 1/2. Fractional advances occurred at the start of the second hour but the general list again turned heavy toward noon and prices continued downward with the steel shares being offered freely. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

A large volume of selling orders again cut prices extensively in today's stock market, influenced largely by the unfavorable tenor of foreign news and less encouraging reports from the steel industry. Professional traders were active on the selling side and heavy profit-taking sales were again in evidence. Sales approximated 1,000,000 shares. The closing was weak.

TILE FOR SCHOOL WARPED

Terra Cotta for South Side High to be Inspected

Representative of a New Jersey clay products company which is furnishing the terra cotta for South High school will come to Lima today to view tiles rejected on account of warped condition, Ora Green, contractor, declared Thursday.

Green said quite a number of the tile were thrown out when workmen could not fit them. The manufacturer will be asked to replace them. For this reason, Green wired to have a man come to see the cracked tile, so the firm would understand why they were to be returned.

Practically all terra cotta warps in burning in the kilns, Green said. The lot sent for the South High are just a little more difficult to fit than usual, he declared.

None of the badly warped tile have been used in the building, Green said.

CITY PREPARING TO FIGHT SUIT OVER ROCK PROFILES

City officials are preparing to contest a suit for $218,000 brought in federal court at Toledo against the city by Contractor J. W. Farley, growing out of the Collet-St. sewer job. The suit is likely to be called for trial Saturday, City Solicitor Paul Landis told Manager Bingham, Mayor Cunningham and Commissioner Jones at a conference in Bingham's office Thursday morning.

According to Bingham, the contractor claims that when the specifications were given bidders the profile showed a certain amount of rock but did not show anywhere near what Farley claims he found and was compelled to excavate. He claims he lost heavily on the job and has brought the suit.

Bingham said that the conference Thursday morning took up the question of this suit and which city officials will have to go to Toledo as witnesses for the defense. City Engineer Jewhurst and Sewer Engineer Darbe called, Bingham said.

SHORT SHAVINGS

JUST GUESS

S. G. Parks, E. Market-st., tells of wealthy family who had been having some trouble with their cooks conversing with their men friends while they were working at the house. Therefore they had issued orders that there should be no more visitors.

One day they observed the new cook talking with a man. She was promptly hauled upon the carpet and reprimanded for her action. To their surprise the cook laughed.

"Hee, hee," she chuckled. "That war no gentleman fren, that war my no count husband."

W. C. Good, grocer, saw an unusual sign the other day. It read: "Trespassers will be persecuted to the full extent of 2 mean mongrel dogs which ain't never been ovari sashibil with strangers and 1 dubble barlet shot-gun which ain't loaded with no soft pillers. Darn, if I ain't tired of this bel ralsin on my prop-erty."

"We figured out he didn't want anybody to go on his property," Good says.
